

Religion News

by
Sue Reid

Director is recognized

Aline Davis, assistant religious school director at Temple Emanu El and a resident of Solon, has been chosen to receive the 2008 Grinspoon-Steinhardt Award for Excellence in Jewish education. The award is sponsored by the Jewish Education Service of North America, the Steinhart Foundation and the Harold Grinspoon Foundation and is awarded to select educators nationwide for excellence in and commitment to Jewish education.

"Aline always goes the extra mile to teach, support and challenge her students," Rabbi Steven Denker of Temple Emanu El said. "For this she is deserving of this prestigious award and we are honored to have her as part of our staff and faculty."

As part of this award, Mrs. Davis will receive funds to continue her professional development. She will attend conferences and seminars as well as the opportunity to study in Israel. She will also attend the JESNA awards seminar in New York this fall.

Temple Emanu El is moving to 4545 Brainard Road in Orange Village at the end of the month from its current location on Green Road in University Heights. For more information, call (216) 381-6600.

Solon resident Aline Davis has been chosen to receive the 2008 Grinspoon-Steinhardt Award for excellence in Jewish education. She is the assistant religious school director at Temple Emanu El.