Winter Shabbat Worship Schedule

From Thanksgiving weekend, Friday, November 25, 2011 through February 24, 2012, our Shabbat evening service will begin at 6:00 p.m.

Our Worship & Ritual Committee, along with the Temple's Trustees and clergy, hope that during the winter months this earlier hour will allow our members and guests to participate in Shabbat worship, before dinner, without concern about late evening travel.

We look forward to worshipping with you during this winter and throughout the year.

President's Message

In a recent TEEMail I raised the question: Whose congregation is it? The answer was obvious, namely TEE is yours, the readers of this piece. There is more to that question than first meets the eye.

We are a sizeable congregation, not the largest in the area and certainly not the smallest. We have a lively 65-year history with a number of significant accomplishments over that period and our fair share of challenges. Having started out by meeting in a classroom of a Shaker Heights school building, we have built two excellent facilities. We outgrew the one of Green Road. Our new home charms almost all who visit. For me personally, the Siegal Chapel is the 'wow' factor of the building.

Everything our community is and can become is dependent upon the members of the community coming together to plan and execute activities and events.

TEE is, of course, much more than the physical facility. We are a learning community, a praying community, a social community, and with your help a growing community. But what does being a community mean?

To me it means a source of comfort, of enjoyment, of satisfaction, and/or spiritual and emotional fulfillment; it is a framework where we meet and greet both old and new friends; it is part and parcel of our lives and our engagements. As a community, TEE offers adult education classes where we can learn and exchange ideas; dinners and fun things like the recent picnic where as families we can come together for fun and frolic; serious moments of reflection and analysis of who we are and what we believe; a framework to live out our basic values and our responsibilities as Jews for Tikkun Olam (healing the world).

None of this happens by accident, however. Everything our community is and can become is dependent upon the members of the community coming together to plan and execute activities and events. Nothing really happens by accident, but rather by design. We need ushers for our services; volunteers to help with the office and the school; folks to help with the garden; moms, dads, and kids for mitzvah projects large and small; people willing to lead or to follow as we continually enlarge that which makes our community a true 'place to be, place to belong.'

Most of all we must have individuals willing to give of their most precious commodity, their TIME, to the many initiatives that we undertake year round. Can we entice you to be one of those who can and will make our community vital, vibrant, and engaging? All it takes is an e-mail or phone call to me or to any of our officers to say: What can I DO?
